Skills – insights from STOPandGO

Richard Foggie, Knowledge Transfer Network
richard.foggie@ktn-uk.org

Innovate UK
Knowledge Transfer Network

STOPandGO EKTG NatWest 23 January 2018

STOP + GO

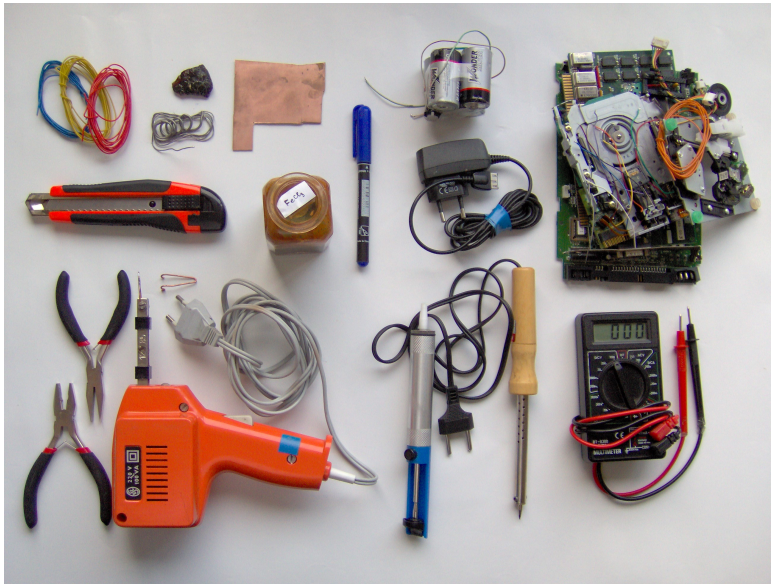
Liverpool

Professional carers are mildly technophobic – and have doubts over Dr Weird's personal hygiene – but are happy to use an app on their phones.

Innovate UK
Knowledge Transfer Network

EKTG

STOP + GO



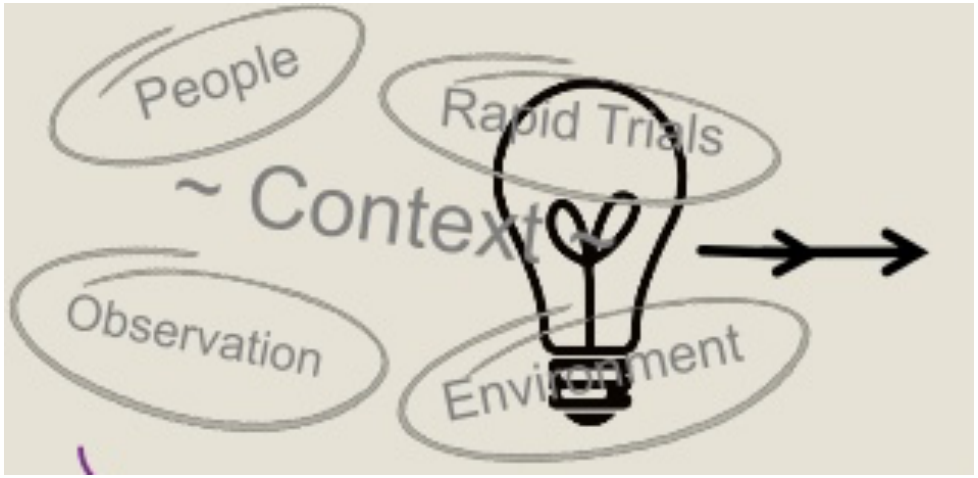
Barcelona

If you can service one implantable cardiac device – you can service them all. Expert patients/carers are pretty smart.

Innovate UK
Knowledge Transfer Network

EKTG

STOP + GO



Helmond

Oh, you're into innovation? So are we! Let's co-create some appropriate dementia services.

Innovate UK
Knowledge Transfer Network

EKTG

horses for courses

Skills were not an explicit factor considered at the outset of the procurements. It is clear, post hoc, that appropriate skill/mind set matching is a success factor and should be considered from the outset in future.

Innovate UK
Knowledge Transfer Network